A patient and family guide to Duke Cancer Center

Bring this reference guide with you!

Cancer survivor John Sanders, from North Augusta, South Carolina poses with Radiation Oncologist Manisha Palta, MD, and Surgical Oncologist Kevin Shah, MD. Sanders was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer in 2018 and is now cancer free. When Sanders was asked why he chose Duke, he shared that his decision was not only based on the expertise and cutting-edge research, but also for the support services available to him and his family. He closed with saying, "If you want life, go to Duke."

We suggest you bring this reference guide with you to your first visit.

You may wish to highlight sections and perhaps even jot down some notes. The handy pockets are reserved for the safekeeping of information you may receive from your providers. If you received a digital copy of this reference guide before your first visit, please be sure to ask for a printed version at your first visit.

Welcome to Duke Cancer Center

Part of the Duke Cancer Institute

Thank you for choosing Duke for your healthcare needs. A cancer diagnosis is difficult on many levels, and the decision of where to get your cancer care is very personal. We are humbled that you have selected Duke Cancer Institute (DCI) for your care, and we promise to rally a full team of experts and support staff around you and your family during this journey – from diagnosis through survivorship.

As a National Cancer Institute-designated comprehensive cancer center, the DCI integrates and aligns innovative research and education with compassionate clinical care. This means your physicians have virtually instant access to innovative scientists who continue the quest to find better treatments and a cure for the challenging set of diseases we call cancer. We bring the latest research and treatment options from the bench to the bedside to provide the best care possible.

In this guide, we will provide you with helpful information about Duke Cancer Center, our flagship location in Durham. This state-of-the-art patient care facility consolidates almost all outpatient clinical care services in one convenient location. It offers helpful programs and services, including a patient resource center, retail pharmacy, self-image boutique, quiet room, café, and outdoor garden. With this range of services and amenities, we aim to make your time with us more comfortable.

Contact information for these services and resources, as well as frequently asked questions (FAQs) are also located within. We hope this serves as a helpful reference guide for you throughout your time with us. And remember, your care team is a helpful resource if you need something that you can't find within these pages.

Thank you again for choosing the DCI for your care. It is our privilege to provide to you and your family cancer care as it should be.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Michael Kastan". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style.

Michael B. Kastan, MD, PhD
Executive Director, Duke Cancer Institute

A state-of-the-art facility, innovative research, and compassionate care — all for you

Improving your experience

Completed in 2012, the Duke Cancer Center was designed with input from patients, families and caregivers to ensure you and your loved ones experience a welcoming, supportive, and healing environment.

Team-based, disease-specific care

The Duke Cancer Center brings together the many aspects of your care in one convenient location. A team of physicians, nurses, pharmacists, medical family therapists, social workers, dietitians and other professionals will work together within a multidisciplinary disease-based program to provide you with your care needs.

Spaces for you and your family

The Duke Cancer Center is open Monday through Friday, from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. A video introduction to the Duke Cancer Center and video tours of the facility are available at DukeHealth.org/CancerTour. To reach the Front Desk, please call 919-613-1908.

Parking & Transportation

Parking is available in the Duke Medicine Circle parking garage, located at 302 Trent Dr. Parking costs $2 per hour or $8 per day (fee subject to change). Pre-paid discounted parking passes are available at the Belk Boutique, located in the cancer center.

A courtesy shuttle is available free of charge for patients and visitors. The blue and white shuttle van picks up passengers at Level 1 of the Duke Medicine Parking Garage on Trent Drive, just outside the elevator lobby near a tall “Courtesy Shuttle” sign located outside on the sidewalk. The shuttle makes stops at the Duke Medicine Pavilion, Cancer Center, Morris Building, and Duke Clinic. After appointments, patients and visitors can catch the shuttle at drop-off locations for transport back to the parking garage. The van runs regularly every 5 to 8 minutes throughout the day, Monday through Friday, beginning at 6:30 a.m. and ending at 6 p.m. You can request a security escort to the parking garage after dark.

Valet parking is available at the main entrance of the cancer center for $12 (fee subject to change). Attendants will provide you with a claim check and then park your car.

Wheelchairs and assistance are available in the Duke Cancer Center. Valet parking services can be reached at 919-681-2454.

As you calculate your travel time, please include extra time to park your car, find the clinic, and register.

Travel & Lodging

The Duke Cancer Center is approximately 16 miles from the Raleigh-Durham International Airport (RDU). Taxis, shuttles, and public transportation are available at the airport. Some hotels also offer transportation assistance.

The Bernstein Family Garden is located off the Oncology Treatment Center Waiting Room on Level 4. Make the most of your time by visiting these restorative locations.

Common Areas

Beginning in the soaring central atrium, the Duke Cancer Center's common spaces foster a feeling of comfort and relaxation. Clinics offer spacious, comfortable waiting areas featuring large windows and natural light. Host stations can be found in waiting areas.

Charging stations and complimentary WiFi are available on every floor.

Resources and Support

We are committed to treating you as a whole person—mind and body—not just your cancer. We believe quality comprehensive cancer care involves attending to issues beyond the scope of traditional models of medicine. We understand cancer not only affects you; it also touches the lives of those surrounding you. The care we provide extends to your family and your support network. In fact, most of our cancer support services are provided at no additional charge to you and your loved ones.

Cancer patient support services

The Duke Cancer Patient Support Program offers services for patients and their loved ones. We help patients understand their options, make decisions, and manage the effects of cancer and its treatment. Services include: individual, couple, and family therapy; support groups; self-image resources; pet therapy; child-life services; recreation therapy; and more. There is no charge to patients and their families. For more information call 919-684-4497 or visit DukeHealth.org/CancerSupport.

Patient navigation

Patient navigators help identify and evaluate barriers to timely diagnosis and treatment of cancer. Duke Cancer Institute's patient navigation is a part of the Supportive Care and Survivorship Center and focuses on patients who are faced with multiple barriers such as transportation, housing, and financial concerns. For more information or to speak with a patient navigator, call 919-668-3882.

Clinical social work

Oncology and palliative care social workers help patients and their loved ones cope with the emotional and practical concerns that accompany the diagnosis and treatment of cancer. Our social workers assess individuals and family members to identify and address their specific needs. Social workers establish interventions to help our patients alleviate stressors and the financial burden associated with a cancer diagnosis. They can also connect patients and families to resources such as disability, home health/hospice, advance directives and end of life care. For assistance in finding the most appropriate social worker, please contact the Patient Resource Center at 919-684-6955.

Interpreters

Medical interpreters are available and can be requested when scheduling your appointment.

Chaplain services

Duke chaplains are on-site seven days a week, 24 hours a day, to offer spiritual support to patients and their families. When requested, they connect patients and their families with faith-specific representatives from the community. To learn more, call 919-684-3586 and ask for the on-call chaplain to be paged.

Child-life services

The diagnosis of cancer impacts every member of the family, including children and teens. Our certified child life specialist strives to help children and teens better understand and cope with serious illness in the family. Education and supportive activities can reduce the stress experienced by children and teens and make it easier for families to talk about the illness experience. To schedule an appointment with our child life specialist, call 919-684-2913.

Therapy and counseling

Our medical family therapists provide individual, couple, and family therapy. They help patients and their loved ones cope with the impact that cancer has on their lives. Psychiatry and psychology services are also offered as part of our treatment for emotional, psychological, and relational issues associated with a cancer diagnosis. For additional information, call 919-684-4497.

Cancer nutrition

Our registered dietitians and nutritionists specialize in oncology, working collaboratively with you to make sure you're well-nourished throughout your cancer treatment. Dietitians help to prevent and treat malnutrition, restore digestive health, minimize the side effects of your cancer treatment, and work with you in survivorship. For more information, call 919-613-6379 to be directed to the dietitian who specializes in your cancer diagnosis.

Physical and occupational therapy services

Duke Health provides a variety of outpatient physical and occupational therapy services. Services include assessments and treatments for the following conditions: general weakness and deconditioning, chronic pain, changes in cognition, impairment of fine motor dexterity, alterations in vision, incontinence, and sexual health issues. Specialized programs are also offered, including lymphedema management, fall risk assessment, functional capacity evaluations, driving evaluations, wheelchair seating evaluations, facial paralysis, and pelvic floor rehabilitation. For more information or to schedule an appointment with our programs, please call 919-684-2445.

Speech pathology and audiology

We provide diagnostic and rehabilitation services to include a wide range of hearing, cognitive-communicative, and swallowing issues related to cancer and/or the effects of treatments.

Duke Cancer Institute provides a variety of support services and resources for the entire family.

A team of skilled clinicians will work with you to identify and improve difficulties with hearing, speaking, memory, attention, problem solving, language, and swallowing. Our clinicians focus on functional and practical therapy plans with a goal of achieving the best quality of life possible. To schedule an appointment or to seek further information regarding available programs, call 919-684-3859.

Fertility preservation

Cancer treatments like chemotherapy, radiation, and surgery can affect your ability to have children because of the impact on eggs and sperm. If you plan to have a family, fertility preservation can save your healthy eggs or sperm before your cancer treatment. If your cancer team identifies the need for a fertility preservation consultation, our patient navigator will connect you with experts on our team including providers and nurses trained in fertility services, financial counselors, and therapists. For more information call 919-316-9935 to speak to a patient navigator.

Cardio-Oncology

Duke cardio-oncologists specialize in providing care to people who have known heart disease or risk factors before they start cancer treatment, as well as those who develop heart-related side effects during cancer treatment. We also provide ongoing care to cancer survivors to ensure treatment-related heart problems do not occur or worsen once treatment ends. For more information, visit DukeHealth.org/treatments/cancer/cardio-oncology.

Personalized exercise consultations

The Supportive Care and Survivorship Center offers personalized exercise consultations by exercise physiologists and certified trainers. For more information or to schedule an appointment, call 919-660-6741.

Sexual health services

Sexual health services are available through the Duke Cancer Patient Support Program. These services include patient education on the impact of cancer treatments on sexual health and intimacy and therapy services that address concerns surrounding sexual function, sexual feelings, intimacy, and changes in sexual health. For more information or to schedule an appointment, call 919-684-4497.

Quit at Duke

Quit at Duke is a program designed to help people quit using tobacco products. Services are provided by tobacco treatment specialists and behavioral medicine clinicians. For more information or to schedule an appointment, please call 919-613-QUIT (7848).

Genetics counseling

The Hereditary Cancer Clinic offers cancer risk assessment and education to patients with cancer and people with a family history of cancer or other cancer risk factors. For more information or to make an appointment, call 919-684-3181.

Palliative care

Duke's palliative care experts help you find relief from the pain, symptoms, and stress of serious illness. No matter your age or the stage of your illness, we work closely with you and your doctors to help you understand your treatment options and make decisions about your care. We're here to help you gain emotional and psychological strength, and to ensure you and your loved ones experience the best possible quality of life. Although palliative care providers sometimes see people at the end of life, and we may talk with you about what hospice offers, we are not hospice care. We can also help with pain control, symptom management, complex medical decisions, navigation of complex health care issues, and advance care planning, including a living will or health care power of attorney. Palliative Care is available to you in our outpatient clinic and in the hospital. To schedule a new appointment, call 919-385-0572.

Clinical trials

Clinical trials offer hope for many people. These studies allow our researchers to discover, develop, and deliver the most advanced treatment options available, including the latest cancer drugs, surgical technologies, and radiation therapies. Duke Cancer Institute patients have access to a broad selection of Duke-initiated and national clinical trials across all types of cancer. For more information and questions about clinical trials for your cancer type, consult your doctor, or visit DukeCancerInstitute.org/Clinical-Trials. You may also contact the Duke Recruitment Innovation Center at 919-681-5698.

Teen and young adult oncology program

Duke Cancer Institute's Teen and Young Adult Oncology Program provides teen and young adult patients (ages 15 to 29) and their families with support and community during a cancer diagnosis, treatment, and survivorship. The program offers specialized medical care; individual, couple, and family therapy; peer connection; and activity-based groups, both in the medical center and in the community. To learn more call 919-316-9935 or visit DukeCancerInstitute.org/TYAO.

Survivorship services

Our cancer survivorship initiative focuses on the design and delivery of high-quality survivorship care. We partner with patients and their families to help them achieve healthy, fulfilling lives beyond cancer. Areas of care that are addressed include assessment and management of physical and emotional needs that may result from the cancer experience; cancer screenings and monitoring; and counseling related to prevention and health promotion. We offer a number of clinical and supportive services. For more information, call 919-668-2122.

Oncology recreation therapy

This program assists hospitalized adults with cancer and their family members in adjusting to illness, treatment, and hospitalization. Recreational therapy treatment interventions and general recreational activities and resources are offered to hospitalized patients. For more information, call 919-681-2928.

Volunteer services

The Duke Cancer Patient Support Program offers volunteers trained to work with you and your family members. They provide conversation and companionship. Our volunteers guide patients to locations and resources within the clinics and hospital, and play a vital role in the day-to-day activities at the Duke Cancer Center. To learn more about volunteer opportunities, call 919-684-3651.

Pet therapy

Pets at Duke, a service offered through the Duke Cancer Patient Support Program, offers many benefits to our patients. Research shows that animal-assisted therapy, or pet therapy, is an effective form of psychotherapy intervention that reduces stress, anxiety, and fear. It also provides a sense of companionship that can combat feelings of isolation. Pets at Duke offers individual inpatient visits or visits in designated areas of the Cancer Center. For more information, speak with your Duke Health provider, visit DukeHealth.org/PetsAtDuke or call 919-684-4497.

Free legal services

Duke Law School's Health Justice Clinic offers free legal assistance to help you deal with legal issues that may accompany your medical diagnosis and treatment. Volunteer law students from the Cancer Pro Bono Project are also available to help prepare important legal documents, such as healthcare power of attorney, living will, and general power of attorney.

Patient advocates

The Department of Patient and Visitor Relations assists patients and their families. As advocates for you and your family, patient representatives can listen to and follow up on your concerns, answer questions or direct your request to the appropriate hospital department, and arrange for special services or direct you to resources in the community. For more information, call 919-681-2020.

Cancer Care Calendar

The Cancer Care Calendar contains information about available support services, activities, and resources. Printed copies are available at our cancer care locations in Wake and Durham counties. The calendar can be viewed online by visiting DukeCancerInstitute.org/SupportCalendar.

American Cancer Society Road to Recovery program

The Road to Recovery program is a service offered at no charge that matches Durham County and Wake County patients who need transportation assistance with local volunteers willing to drive them to oncology appointments at the Duke Cancer Center or Duke Cancer Center North Durham. Cancer patients needing transportation to their appointment or who would like more information about the program can call 800-227-2345.

Duke Cancer Institute Office of Development

Many of our patients and their families want to know what they can do to help make a difference in the lives of others battling cancer. The DCI Development Office helps to foster working partnerships between our patients and our scientists, who are on the frontlines of cancer research. Philanthropic support from patients and their loved ones enables us to advance new models of patient-centered care; to prepare the next generation of compassionate and innovative cancer doctors and researchers; and to continue to bring novel, improved treatments to patients at Duke and beyond. Ultimately, patient support accelerates our quest to cure cancer. There are many ways to support the Duke Cancer Institute and its efforts. To learn more or to make a donation, contact the DCI Office of Development at 919-385-0039 or visit DukeCancerInstitute.org/Donors.

Events

Duke Cancer Institute partners with many local and national health charities to support cancer research. We also team with passionate individuals who, by uniting their passions with their commitment to help fund a cure, organize their own special events to benefit ongoing science at Duke. We invite you to team up with Duke to change the rules on cancer. For more information on events, visit DukeCancerInstitute.org/Community-Outreach-Engagement/Benefit-Special-Events.

Frequently Asked Questions

What should I bring to my appointment?

We suggest you bring this reference guide with you. You may wish to highlight sections and perhaps even jot down some notes. The handy pockets are reserved for the safekeeping of information you may receive from your providers. If you received a digital copy of this reference guide before your first visit, please be sure to ask for a printed version at your first visit. You should also bring:

- Completed new patient packet if one was provided
- All medicines, vitamins, and supplements (in original containers or take pictures of the medicine labels)
- Any medical records, not obtained during the scheduling process, that may need that may need to be reviewed (such as x-rays, scans and lab results related to the reason for your visit)
- Photo ID
- Insurance cards
- Pen and paper to take notes

Where should I park?

See the “Directions, Parking & Maps” information provided in this packet on pages 4-7. Additional resources are available at DukeHealth.org.

What can I expect during my first visit?

At the Duke Cancer Center, we are dedicated to a multidisciplinary approach to cancer care. Our goal is to streamline your care. In a single visit, depending on your diagnosis, you may see a variety of specialists, including your medical oncologist, surgeon, radiation oncologist, and geneticist. In many instances, you will also meet with a nurse, a pharmacist, and a social worker. Your new patient appointment may begin with a nurse, nurse practitioner, or physician assistant. At that time, your healthcare provider will review and discuss your health history with you. They may ask additional questions to establish a complete overview of your diagnosis and treatment history.

As part of an academic medical center, we are devoted to the mentoring of future healthcare providers. At times you may be seen by a medical resident or fellow pursuing specialty training in healthcare. Both work closely with your oncology specialist and are vital members of your health care team. After meeting with other members of your health care team, you will be seen by a cancer specialist who will discuss with you in detail treatment options and next steps.

Frequently Asked Questions

What can I expect at follow-up visits?

On subsequent visits, your medicines and symptoms will be reviewed by a nurse. You will then see either your cancer specialist or the nurse practitioner or physician assistant who works with your cancer specialist. Our physician assistants and nurse practitioners are experienced in caring for cancer patients and they are experts in symptom management. The Duke Cancer Center offers disease-site nursing, which means you have nurses who are focused on your particular cancer. At each appointment, you will see the same nursing team. Required lab tests or imaging studies may increase the length of your visit, so we encourage you to make any necessary childcare or pet care arrangements. While we try to schedule all of your tests and scans at the Cancer Center, some may be in other buildings nearby. You are encouraged to bring a sweater or light jacket, reading material, a laptop or mobile device, and power cords. Free wireless internet service is provided throughout the Cancer Center.

What do I need to know about clinical trials offered at Duke?

Clinical trials offer hope for many people. These studies allow our researchers to discover, develop, and deliver the most advanced treatment options available, including the latest cancer drugs, surgical technologies, and radiation therapies. Duke Cancer Institute patients have access to a broad selection of Phase 1, Phase 2, and Phase 3 Duke-initiated and national clinical trials across all types of cancer. People choose to participate in clinical trials because they want to take part in the advancement of new discoveries, because they feel empowered when they take a more active role in their health, or because they can gain access to new treatments before they are widely available.

From precision cancer medicine to immunotherapy, genetically targeted therapy, CAR T-cell therapy, radiotherapy and new treatment combinations, to cancer prevention and disparities research, and we offer multiple trials looking for better ways to treat cancer.

Our Duke Cancer Institute's experienced and compassionate staff will assure your safety and be your guide. For more information and questions regarding clinical trials for your cancer type, consult your doctor, or visit DukeCancerInstitute.org/Clinical-Trials. You may also contact the Duke Recruitment Innovation Center at 919-681-5698.

What should I know about insurance and my bill?

We will process claims for services with your insurance carriers. You may be asked to pay amounts not covered by your insurance, such as co-pays, deductibles, and coinsurance, at the time of your visit. Duke participates with most insurance companies, Medicare, and North Carolina Medicaid. Prior to your visit, check with your employer or insurance company to see if you have access to healthcare services at Duke. Otherwise, you may be responsible for all or a large portion of your bill. Bring your complete health insurance information, including identification, insurance cards and authorization forms, to your appointment.

Co-payments for physician and hospital care and other balances you may owe are due on the day you receive services. Your insurance may also require you to pay for estimated coinsurance or deductibles related to your care. If you have multiple appointments, your insurance company may require multiple co-payments.

Duke is committed to providing care with dignity and respect. If you have questions or cannot pay your bill in full, please tell us and let us help. Our account representatives and financial care counselors, located on every floor of the cancer center, will assist you with filling out applications for monthly payment plans, financial assistance programs, and government-sponsored programs.

Who do I call with questions about billing or insurance before or after my visit?

If you have any questions about your co-payments, deductibles, or coinsurance requirements, please call your insurance company. If you have questions about your bill or would like to speak with someone about financial assistance, contact the Duke Health Customer Service Center at 800-782-6945.

Who do I contact about my experience at the Duke Cancer Center?

Our goal is to provide you with high-quality care and an outstanding patient experience. We depend on the feedback of our patients to help us serve you better and to identify areas for improvement. You may receive a patient satisfaction survey in the mail about two weeks after your appointment. Please take a few moments to complete the survey and return it in the postage-paid envelope provided. If your feedback is urgent or if you wish to speak with someone, please contact our patient advocates at 919-681-2020.
